Born in England 1945

Married childhood sweetheart 1965, married now for fifty-one years, we have three grown children and eight grandchildren.

Educated Immaculate Conception convent school, Darlington England.

Studied Pre-Primary school teaching, then opened own private school in UK.

Studied fashion design, pattern making, art and home economics, at Darlington College evenings, achieved diploma with credit, running my school in the mornings.

1974 Family emigrated from England to South Africa.

1975-1990 Opened private pre-school and crèche, in Goodwood, Cape, using my own advanced curriculum, plus much praise and encouragement, with great results.

1979 started a small clothing factory, with two machinists, which expanded, eventually employing 21 full time staff. Enjoyed this season of my life for over 20 years. Running the school and factory concurrently till 1990 when I sold the school.

Wrote first two books 'I Too have a Brain' for women, and His Cave for men, published in 1996. Recorded CD's to complement the books. It was a challenging enterprise as the verses were in Sonnet form.

My research into water, health and longevity were the inspiration to write another two books. 'Know the Truth' sub title 'What dietitians don't tell you and your Doctor doesn't know' and 'Youthing' sub title 'Reversing the Ageing Process'

Studied the Pilates method of exercise in the UK, plus anatomy, and physiology then opened own Pilate's studio in Durbanville Cape Town, which I am running to date.

Received many invitations to do public speaking, and radio interviews and eventually did several hours of recordings for radio CCFM. Radio Tygerberg, and Radio Pulpit.

Water

The body is 70% water, yet few people know the importance of having a healthy pH or ever think of checking their own pH. Being fanatical about my own health, and what goes in, or on, my own body, I decided to market my own health products, and registered my company Youthing cc, which I am still running concurrently with my Pilates studio.

THIS IS MY HISTORY AND HOW MY PASSION FOR WATER BEGAN

OXIDANE

It was not an easy road; I made mistakes along the way, but my belief and confidence grew, as did my knowledge when researching the world's water situation. This grew into a passion to make a difference, which became an obsession. I felt energized, and determined to find a safe affordable alternative to chlorine.

A Huge Vision

In 2012, I decided to devote my time to this vision, which became clear. I started to concentrate on how a brand new product, which would not only treat potable water, but would also be chlorine and ozone free, give better results than chlorine, without any of the dangerous side effects, and be able to save millions of lives, especially the lives of children, for whom I have a special place in my heart (and yet another vision).

I knew it could be done somehow, I knew I could 'drive the ship', but I also knew I did not have the qualifications or technical knowledge to develop such a product.

Breakthrough

This happened when I approached Grant Davis, a very well respected chemical analyst, with an impressive history. Grant loves a challenge, and through sheer determination never to give up, Grant has now developed a totally unique, amazing water treatment product, the like of which the world has never seen. Subsequently the product has been patented. The first time Grant and I met, we just hit it off, and a huge mutual respect has grown between us. I learnt Grant had access to a laboratory, and was able to do all the initial tests before finally submitting the product to the SANAS laboratories.

Incredible Results

The final results were even beyond our expectations, fulfilling all the WHO criteria, without massive machinery or expensive processing. Oxidane is in powder form, which is light and portable. It will be made into sachets, and also sold in bulk.

Team Work

Two more team members were added, who also share the same passion, and vision. We work exceptionally well together. We shall not rest till the world not only knows about Oxidane, but is also using Oxidane globally. From the child who collects water from a highly polluted river, to the unfortunate people, who survive major disasters, only to die of water borne diseases.

Humanitarian Use

We shall not rest until all the humanitarian organizations including Rotary, Red Cross, and Lions, know about and use Oxidane.

We shall not rest until UNICEF, WHO, and their World Food programs use Oxidane, because donated baby milk, and food is often mixed with dangerous polluted water, babies and young children often become sick and even die. That need not happen any more with Oxidane.

Commercially:

This is a once in a lifetime opportunity to become a business partner of Oxidane, or an angel investor into the 'New Blue Gold' (Water) whilst growing their business empire.

Or for entrepreneurs or executives, who may be interested in angel investing for reasons that go beyond pure monetary return

Future Growth

We envisage Oxidane being used in; Municipalities, hospitals, agriculture, abattoirs, cooling towers, swimming pools, armed forces, vending machines and more....

Oxidane is a vision that became a reality.
